Special Events 2022

Explore the formation of Cumbria's landscape through these talks, walks and workshops. Please use the websites on the back for more information on booking tickets for events and exhibitions near you. Please visit Tullie Hlouse's website for the full programme of events.

Saturday 7th May

'River Lune Ramble' exploring the rocks & fossils at Kirkby Lonsdale led by Carolina from CGC, booking with Kendal Museum.

'Great Asby Scar Guided Geo-walk' Led by David from Westmorland Dales Landscape Partnership.

'Geowalk - Skiddaw Granite at Sinen Gill, Skiddaw Led by John and Ian from CGC, please book with Penrith Museum.

'Wandering with Wordsworth': A geological guided walk (ticketed event, please book with Wordsworth Grasmere.

'Geology Drawing workshop' at Tullie House.

'Every Stone is a Mountain in Miniature: Ruskin, Geology and Art' Talk & walk by Jamie at the Ruskin Museum.

Sunday 8th May

'Rocks and Fossils in Trowbarrow Quarry' Led by Audrey from CGC please book with The Ruskin Museum

'Force Crag Mine Processing Mill' book with the National Trust.

Monday 9th May

'Geology and Identity in Cumbrian Literature workshop' with Dr Penny Bradshaw, please book through Brantwood.

'Rocks, soils and the rest' talk , Please book with Killhope Mine.

Tuesday 10th May

'Every Stone is a Mountain in Miniature: Ruskin, Geology and Art' Talk and walk by Jamie at the Ruskin Museum (repeat).

'Explore Brown Howe Quarry and discover some of the Lake District's firey past (Coniston)' by Audrey from CGC

'Geowalk around CWT's Eycott Hill' Led by John & Ian from CGC, please book with Penrith Museum.

'Behind the Scenes' at Wordsworth Grasmere (free with admission).

'Geology-themed Loose Leaf Poetry' at Wordsworth Grasmere

Wednesday 11th May

'Geology day at Nenthead mine' with surface & underground walks.

'Geology-themed Sketching' at Wordsworth Grasmere.

'Gelt Woods – A buried river in the Triassic desert' Led by Steve from CGC, please book through Tullie House.

'A geological walk around Keswick' Led by Helen from CGC, Please book through Penrith Museum.

Thursday 12th May

'A talk on the rocks in and around Barrow' with Audrey from CGC, Please book with the Dock Museum.

'Geoweek Symposium' at the University of Cumbria.

'Borrowdale Graphite mines talk(online)' With CATMHS, please book with the National Trust.

'Two-part excursion - igneous intrusions into Skiddaw' Led by John and Ian from CGC, please book with Penrith Museum.

'Geology Rocks!' At Tullie House (free with admission).

Friday 13th May

'Introduction to Geology of Orton' Led by David Evans with the Westmorland Dales Landscape Partnership.

'A walk of Goldscope Mine's 500 year legacy' led by CATMHS, Please book with the National Trust.

'Rocks, soils and the rest' talk (repeat) book with Killhope mine.

'Geoweek Symposium' at the University of Cumbria

Saturday 14th May

' Geology around millom and the poetry of Nicholson ' Fieldtrip with the Norman Nicholson society

'Force Crag Mine Processing Mill ' book with the National Trust

'Art Rocks!' With the Windermere Science festival, Please book with the Windermere Jetty Museum.

Sunday 15th May

'Coombe Crags: Tropical seas and river deltas of the Carboniferous' with Steve from CGC, please book with Tullie House

'Making Sense of our Landscape - Coniston Fells' Talk and walk with Carolina from CGC and Warren from CATMHS, please book with the Ruskin Museum

Crystal Illustration credit: Laura M R Harrison| Front cover Image credit: Olivia Adu

GeoWeek 2022 Exhibitions

Active Geoscience 7–15 May

In Carlisle, Tullie House Museum &Art Gallery will be exhibiting rare minerals from lesser-known mines in Cumbria. With photographs through time of the mines from Cumbria Amenity Trust and Mining History Society's Archives.

Wordsworth Grasmere have daily gallery tours and activities on Wordsworth and geology At the Jerwood Centre, you will be able to see a special exhibit: 'Wordsworth, Jonathan Otley and the environment'.

In Whitehaven, use the Beacon Museum's digital geology touch screen interactive and powerful telescopes, to find out about the history and development of the town and harbour of Whitehaven.

Visit 19th century mine, Killhope mining Museum, near Alston. This multi-award winning museum is giving site tours and made a 'Prospectors Pavillion' for you to see on your visit.

In Cockermouth, Wordsworth House and Garden have an exhibit which challenges us to rethink the basis of our relationship with the fells. 'Scree' is on until 6th Nov 22.

At the Vallum Gallery in Carlisle. The University of Cumbria are hosting the 'Geoweek Symposium: Communication Measures to Bridge 4.543 Billion Years' Exhibit. Monday 9th - Friday 13th May,

In Barrow, the Dock Museum has permanent exhibits based on the iron ore mines and how Barrow in Furness was built on this geological discovery.

In Coniston, The Ruskin Museum have an exhibit on the industrial remains of the Coppermines Valley and Tilberthwaite by redisplaying 'The Copper Collection', with a new case, interpretation, and Audio-Visual show.

Kendal Museum has a permanent geology exhibit, with rooms of rocks and minerals flowing between the Natural History galleries. Their online resources allow you to view photo-graphs of local rocks and minerals.

Walks Led by:

Cumbria GeoConservation

Brantwood, Coniston, will release daily video shorts exploring their relationship to Ruskin and Geology. Including highlights from the 'Treasury' gallery, which has specimens from John Ruskin's personal collection.

Penrith and Eden Museum, have permanent geology exhibit : 'Ages of Eden', which you on a journey through the geology of Eden. Explore their virtual tour through the Penrith Museum Blog.